AUSTRIA QUITS TO ITALY?

KAISER MAY ABDICATE AT THE FRONT

EXTRA!

KAISER GOES TO FRONT SAYS BERLIN

Armistice Terms Are Strictly for Military Requirements

GERMANY IS ALONE

Some Speculation on Difficulties Allies Face in Turkey

(By the Associated Press)

COPENHAGEN — The rumors of Emperor William's abdication are at least premature, the Berlin Vossische Zeitung says in Thursday's issue. It adds however, that the abdication question was discussed at the latest meetings of the war council and it is stated that former Vice Chancellor Delbrueck has left for the front on an important mission. Vice Chancellor Maximilian. It is generally supposed, the newspaper says, that Dr. Delbrueck will present the Emperor with an abdication document.

(By the Associated Press)

COPENHAGEN—Emperor William has left Berlin for German army headquarters, a message from the German capital today states.

The Armistice Terms.

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS—The armistice terms to be submitted to Germany will be confined strictly to military requirements, except that it will be brought out clearly that they are to be imposed generally upon President Wilson's principles with some definiteness.

Germany Is Isolated.

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON—The complete isolation of Germany as a result of the flight and surrender of her allies is commented upon here as the outstanding feature of the latest developments in the "colossal struggle for victory."

The effect of this isolation upon Germany, coupled with the deplorable internal conditions in Germany is regarded almost everywhere as bringing the end of the war near, although in some quarters a warning is raised that the German army and navy is still in existence and in the hands of desperate men are formidable and dangerous.

The general tenor of comment, however, indicates a belief that Germany must sooner or later accept virtually any terms the allies impose. There is considerable speculation as to the extent Germany will be able to oppose the carrying out of the terms Turkey has accepted.

It is unknown whether German troops still hold the Dardanelles forts and other defenses of Constantinople, while resistance by the powerful Russian Black sea fleet is considered as a serious possibility. Even if the forts are evacuated, passage of the straits may not, it is suggested, be without danger, as it is assumed they are still mined and must, in any event, be swept before ships can pass through.

The Express, however, learns that the location of all mines is known to the Turks and that parties believe that when they understood to open the straits the Turks have agreed to help the British to remove the mine fields.

The immense possibilities following the Turkish collapse are discussed by all the newspapers among hopeful auguries being the restoration of Rumania and the end of Bolshevik tyranny in Russia.

Supreme War Council Meets

THE PROFITEERS AS SHOWN IN THE AEROPLANE REPORT

WASHINGTON—The Dayton-Wright corporation, the Hughes report says, with a capital of $1,000,000 and government financing to the extent of $1,405,000 has prospects of profits of more than $6,000,000. The Ford Motor Company on contracts for five thousand liberty motors, the report estimates, will make a profit of more than $5,000,000 on an investment of not more than $11,800,000. The Fischer Body Corporation, with an investment of $860,000 and government financing of $2,000,000, the report says is estimated to make a profit of $3,500,000. The Packard Motor Company with a calculated investment of $11,808,000 and a contract for 6,000 liberty motors is estimated to be about to realize profits of $6,450,000 on seventeen months' work. The Lincoln Motor Company with paid in capital of $850,000 and investment of $7,150,000 of which $3,460,000 represents items on which the government pays 40 percent depreciation is estimated to have in prospect or in hand profits of $7,150,000.

METZ PIVOT OF ENEMY RETIREMENT

Germans Prepare to Withdraw as Slowly and Strategically as Possible

EVERY BIT IS SAVED

Strong Defense Positions Drawn up on Front of Second Army

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY NORTHWEST OF VERDUN — There have been many indications in the last few days that the Germans intend to retire as slowly and strategically as possible from their present positions, especially west of the Meuse and possibly withdraw entirely from non-German soil. The vicinity of Metz will continue to be the pivot of this retiring movement because of its strategic importance.

Much evidence of this intention, on the part of the enemy is especially recognizable on the front of the American second army in the Woevre. Deserters from the German lines and prisoners corroborate this information and say that the German command is saving every bit of war material in the region and transporting light and heavy guns into German territory east of Metz.

Even reports of artillery having been sent from the front east of St. Quentin to the Metz and Vosges regions have been received and it is believed the Germans have been tearing up narrow gauge railroads on some sectors.

Meanwhile the Germans are organizing strong defense positions on the front of the second army. They have made preparations for meeting attacks of all kinds and special measures have been taken against a possible tank attack. The artillery has been echeloned at great depth and corps and divisional headquarters are being moved to the rear.

The theory is that the Germans intend to hold stubbornly to this sector while swinging backward on the north, pivoting, on Metz. The Germans show great nervousness on the American front.

AUSTRIAN FRONT IN COLLAPSE

Italians Press Enemy Strongly on Monte Grappa Line in North

SACILE IS OCCUPIED

British Troops Take Town 15 Miles East of Piave; Enemy Retires

Austria's armies, shattered by the blows of the Italians, British and French, are fleeing pell mell on a front of more than 100 miles from the Brenta river east and south to the Adriatic. Apparently the enemy has lost all power of resistance on the important sectors of the front. Countless numbers of prisoners are being taken by the allies.

East of the Piave all the allied armies are marching rapidly toward the Tagliamento in pursuit of the Austrians. The Livenza river, 15 miles east of the Piave and 18 miles from the Tagliamento, has been reached and crossed, while to the south along the lowlands north of the Adriatic the Italian third army continues to move ahead.

The formidable enemy defense bastion around Monte Grappa has been broken by the allies and the Austrians.

ROME—In their offensive against the Austrians on the Monte Grappa front in northern Italy the Italians have pressed the enemy so strongly that his front has collapsed, the war office announced today.

The Italians have forced the Gorge of Quero, have passed beyond the spur east of Monteveen and are advancing in the Piave valley.

British Advance

LONDON — British troops on the Italian front have occupied the town of Sacile on the Livenza, 15 miles east of the Piave, the war office announces.

The enemy is falling back rapidly in the Grappa sector.

Retreat Is Rout

ITALIAN HEADQUARTERS EAST OF THE PIAVE—The Austrians continue to retire hastily in the plains and the allies are capturing many prisoners, the number of which cannot be estimated accurately.

In the mountain regions the Austrians are resisting somewhat, but their defensive power is waning rapidly.

CRIMINAL ACTION IN AIR PROGRAM

Hughes Report Shows Men Throwing Business to Own Concerns

FORD PROFITS BIG

Wright-Dayton Deal is Scored; Organization Was Lacking

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO—It was said at the office of the United States district attorney here today that indictments probably would be returned tomorrow in connection with the aircraft scandal. The men to be named all live in Chicago, it was said.

WASHINGTON—Results of five months' investigation by Charles E. Hughes and Attorney General Gregory into aircraft production in this country since war was declared on Germany were published today following transmission of the report yesterday to President Wilson.

The report was prepared by Mr. Hughes after some 200 witnesses had been examined and in transmitting it to the president Attorney General Gregory said he was in "substantial accord" with the findings of Mr. Hughes.

Organization Lacking.

Delays in turning out planes and engines and waste of funds were attributed by the report chiefly to "the defective organization" of productive work and "the serious lack of competitent direction of that work by the responsible officers of the signal corps."

While there is no charge of "graft" the report recommended that criminal proceedings be brought against three army officers on charges of dealing with corporations in which they were financially interested. They are: Lieut. Col. J. G. Vincent, former vice president of the Packard Motor Car company and now in charge of the airplane division of the aircraft production bureau; Lieut. Col. George W. Mixter, a stockholder in the Curtiss Airplane and Motor Corporation and production manager of the aircraft bureau; and Lieut. Samuel B. Vrooman, Jr., inspector of propellor lumber and a stockholder in the S. B. Vrooman company of Philadelphia.

Recommendation also is made that Col. Edward A. Deeds, a member of the original aircraft board, and the subject of much of the criticism that brought on the inquiry, be brought before a court martial for sending confidential war department information to former business associates at Dayton, O., and for sponsoring "a grossly misleading statement" last February about progress of production.

In concluding his report Mr. Hughes said that "it should be said that under the direction of Mr. John D. Ryan and William C. Potter, assistant director of aircraft production there has been improvement in organization and progress has been made in gratifying measure."

The report states that the chief waste was in the abandonment of the Bristol fighter and the standard J-1 and a failure to salvage, aggregating about $24,000,000, some of which probably can be saved.

Mr. Hughes sharply criticized the "extravagant scale of profits" allowed to aircraft and Liberty motor manufacturers.

The Dayton Wright Airplane company, with a capital of $1,000,000, was first allowed a price for the production of De Havilands which would have netted it $6,350,000. This was later reduced, so that its credit on the De Havilands may be computed at about $3,500,000, according to Mr. Hughes.

GERMANY TAKEN UP BY ALLIED COUNCIL TODAY

Belgian and Japanese Representatives Participate in Discussion of Armistice

BULLETIN

(By the Associated Press)

VERSAILLES — Representatives of the allied nations began their deliberations at the supreme war council shortly after noon today.

General Tasker H. Bliss, representative of the United States, was the first delegate to reach the Trianon palace hotel, arriving at 1:50 p. m. He was followed by Premier Marshal Sir Douglas Haig, Col. E. M. House, president Wilson's personal representative, and David Lloyd George, the British prime minister.

PARIS—Today's deliberations in connection with the armistice proposition were participated in by Belgian and Japanese representatives, the day's meeting having to do with Germany. When Austrian affairs were discussed yesterday, Serbian and Greek representatives were in attendance, because of their particular interest in Austrian matters.

The prime ministers of the allied countries for several days have been doing the principal part of their work in the small back parlor of the apartment occupied by Col. House.

A small American telephone exchange has been put into the apartment by the army signal corps and an American telephone girl manipulates the plugs. The telephone wires run from the various army headquarters and also from the foreign offices in London and Rome.

Turkish Vizier Calls Terms Light

(By the Associated Press)

AMSTERDAM —Izzet Pasha, the Turkish grand vizier, is quoted by the Constantinople newspaper Tasviri Efkiar, when the armistice negotiations were in progress saying:

"The conditions of the armistice will be lighter than the demands imposed on Bulgaria as no military occupation of Constantinople or other Turkish territory has been demanded."

COUNT TISZA IN MURDERED BY SOLDIER

Former Premier Killed by Revolver Shot While Out Walking

GOVERNMENT TAKEN

Revolution in Budapest and National Council is in Control

(By the Associated Press)

COPENHAGEN — Count Tisza, the former Hungarian premier, has been killed by a soldier, according to a Budapest telegram today. The count fell victim to a revolver shot while he was out walking.

Count Tisza was promenading with his family when he was shot, a Budapest dispatch received here by way of Berlin, announces. A woman member of the group was wounded, it is added.

Count Tisza, whose life is reported ended by assassination, has long been one of the storm centers of Hungarian politics. It has been charged that Count Tisza was one of the four men responsible for the war and the accusation has been made that he instigated the assassination of the Arch Duke Ferdinand.

A Magyar and Hungarian to the core, Count Tisza was pro-German and aimed constantly at the supremacy of Hungary over Austria within the dual monarchy. He was born in 1861, the youngest son of Kalman Tisza, a leading Hungarian statesman who gave Hungary a consolidated government.

Count Tisza was twice premier of Hungary, from 1903 to 1905 and from June 6, 1913 to May 23, 1917. He was the center of many riotous scenes in the Hungarian parliament during his leadership and in 1913 fought at least three duels with political opponents. In January of that year he wounded Count Karolyi, a life long and bitter opponent, in a duel at Budapest. Up to his retirement from the premiership he was opposed to the pacifists in Hungary.

Within the last year, however, he has urged peace and in a speech Oct. 19 declared he no longer had hopes for an Austro-German victory.

An unsuccessful attempt was made to assassinate Count Tisza in Budapest Oct. 17. His assailant at that time was arrested.

COPENHAGEN — A successful revolution has taken place in Budapest and the Hungarian national council has taken over the government, according to a message sent by Count Michael Karolyi to the Berlin Tageblatt.

The message from Count Karolyi who is head of the Hungarian independent party reads:

"Revolution in Budapest and national council took over government. Military and police acknowledge national council completely. Inhabitants rejoicing.

(signed) "Karolyi, president national council."

ENGINEER FOUND DEAD AT THROTTLE

TODAY'S SITUATION

(By the Associated Press)

The great Teutonic alliance, which for four years has carried on the greatest war in history and often seemed to have achieved success, is tumbling to pieces. Bulgaria and Turkey have surrendered. Austria, with anarchy reigning throughout the kingdom, is begging for peace, and Germany is anxiously awaiting the terms of the allied nations.

In fact, news of the breaking up of the enemy nations on their home fronts is more momentous than even reports of tremendous events in the theaters of actual battle.

Turkey has apparently given up everything, agreed to the opening of the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus and thrown herself upon the mercy of the allies arrayed against her. In this phase of the war the United States is not an active participant. This country has not been at war with the Ottoman empire. Entry of the Black sea by British, French and Italian warships may be announced at any time with the final act of the drama in that region of the world but a short distance away. Assistance to Rumania and intervention in southern Russia is probably a matter of but a brief period.

Austrian armies fighting on Italian soil face a great military disaster for the rush of the troops commanded by General Diaz has not been halted by Austrian appeals. Proposals made by plenipotentiaries from Vienna have been referred to the inter-allied war council by the Italian commander, but the work of wiping out the stigma of the defeat of Caporetto has not been stopped. Fifteen Austrian divisions are reported to be trapped in the mountain sector between the Brenta and Piave rivers while the Austrians between the sea and Belluno are in peril of being annihilated. Over 50,000 prisoners have been captured by the allies since the drive began.

At home Austria seems to be a seething hotbed on anarchy. Railroads of the most vital importance have been cut, rioting of a serious nature has occurred in many of the larger cities and the imperial authorities at Fiume, Prague and possibly other cities, have given up control to the Slavish and Czech national committees. Germany now seems to be virtually cut off from Austria by the action of the Czechs in Bohemia.

East of Courtrai in Flanders, British and French forces have torn asunder the German lines and have advanced on a wide front towards the Scheldt. This movement threatens to outflank the German troops holding the canal from Eecloo to Zee Brugge, running to the northwestward of Ghent. If the advance continues the Germans may soon be compelled to abandon their positions north of Ghent to the Dutch frontier.

On the St. Fergeau plateau north of the Aisne, and northwest of Rethel, the French have again advanced and the danger to the German lines running off to the eastward is increased.

East of Argonne forest General Pershing's American troops have advanced north of Grandpre and have established themselves in the southern part of Loges wood. Along this front a heavy artillery duel is now being fought.

In Germany the true state of affairs is for the most part unknown, but enough has been reported from neutral countries to indicate a crisis in the history of the empire. The abdication of Emperor William is said to be imminent if it has not already taken place.

From Paris comes a report that the terms of the allies will be made known to Berlin today. The shifting of the sitting of the inter-allied war council from Paris to Versailles is viewed as an indication that the official and possibly the final phase of the momentous meeting of entente representatives which has been going on for some days, has been reached.

Fighting May Already Have Come to End, According to News in London

ROME—It is understood that the terms of the allied nations for an armistice for Austria-Hungary now are in the hands of General Diaz, the Italian commander in chief.

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON—Negotiations between the Italian and Austro-Hungarian military commanders for an armistice are proceeding, according to advices received in London this afternoon. Fighting may already have come to an end.

Offers to Free Venetia.

PARIS—The Austro-Hungarian commander on the Italian front in asking Gen. Diaz for an armistice, argued that under such arrangement Venetia would be evacuated without damage to the cultivated areas, according to a Budapest dispatch to L'Information.

The text of the Austro-Hungarian communication to the Italian supreme command reads, the dispatch says, thus:

"If hostilities are suspended the evacuation of the Venetian plain, now in a good state of cultivation, would be accomplished without any damage whatever to the country. For this reason the Italian supreme command is asked to take the necessary dispositions with a view to the immediate suspension of hostilities."

COPENHAGEN — The organization of the new Czecho-Slovak state is proceeding in an orderly manner.

SHELL CHURNED LANDS TESTIFY OF BITTER ACTS

Desolated Terrain in St. Mihiel Salient Evidence of Enemy Devastation

(By the Associated Press)

WITH THE AMERICAN TROOPS IN FRANCE (Oct. 23)—Nothing attests more completely the bitterness with which the Germans have opposed the American advance everywhere in France than the utter completeness with which the terraine over which the two armies have fought, has been destroyed, desolated, churned by shells, mutilated beyond any immediate hope of restoration.

This was true even in portions of the St. Mihiel salient for notwithstanding that the Germans fairly ran to their famous Hindenburg line they did hold along the western edge of the sector and by the time the Americans had been able to take it great mines had torn the roads and fields asunder, the roads had been wrecked almost beyond repair by intentional enemy agencies as well as by American artillery. What was left of the buildings and dugouts once inhabited by the Germans had been blown and smashed and crushed to a tangled mass of wreckage.

It is in the center of the line between the Meuse river and the Argonne forest, however, where the fighting has been bitterest, that the destruction is most complete, where every handiwork of God and man has been desecrated as one could not believe without seeing it could destroyed. Flanders may be worse, as the English claim, but it is doubtful because there was not as much there to destroy, to blast and to wither.

The only comparison, perhaps, is in the fertile Champagne where more than four years of attacks and counter attacks, bombardment and counter bombardment have reduced every dwelling and building to a series of craters and have bitten off every forest and clump of trees to forlorn stumps minus branches of leaves.

Acid-Stomach Makes Millions Weak and Miserable

For years dentists have been telling us that it's acid mouth that ruins the teeth, yet this acid that is powerful enough to eat through the harder than bone enamel of the teeth and decay them is tasteless. Its presence can be detected only by chemical tests.

No chemical test is needed to tell you that you have acid-stomach.

Indigestion, belching, heartburn, sour stomach, food-repeating, that miserable puffed up feeling after eating, intestinal pains, headaches, etc. These are all Nature's warning to you. They are sure signs of superacidity.

Acid-stomach prevents proper digestion and assimilation, thus causing the blood to become thin and impoverished as a result of which people become sallow-skinned, emaciated, sick and bad looking.

Acid-stomach causes stomach and intestinal fermentation, producing poisons and toxins which, absorbed into the blood are carried throughout the system, cause auto-intoxication, insomnia, nervousness, irritability, mental depression, melancholia, dizziness, vertigo and oftentimes, valvular heart trouble and heart failure.

Acid-stomach causes irritation all along the intestinal tract—irritation so severe and aggravating as to frequently result in catarrh and even cancer of the stomach.

What chance, then, has anyone for robust health, happiness or success if this acid-stomach is allowed to tear down and use up day after day your strength and vitality faster than you can get it out of food you eat? Life is indeed dark and dreary for a person with acid-stomach.

You crave health, strength, the power and will to think and act—don't you? You want to feel full of pep and energy, fine and fit, always eager for work or pleasure.

Then you must rid your stomach of its excess acid. You can start doing it right now. A wonderful modern medicine has made it possible to literally wipe out the excess acid. This remedy is called EATONIC. It is made in pleasant tasting tablets and you take them just like a bit of candy.

And, my, how good EATONIC makes you feel! It banishes acid-stomach miseries like magic! Makes the stomach cool, sweet and strong. Helps you to get full strength out of your food so that, in turn, your body and brain are vigorous, alert and keen.

EATONIC contains no harmful drugs. Prepared for the most delicate stomach and is fully guaranteed. Your druggist will let you have a big 50c box of Eatonic Tablets with the understanding you use them for one week, then if you are not satisfied, tell him so and he will at once hand you back your 50c.

YANKS IN KHAKI TO FEATURE U.W. HOMECOMING

Nov. 9 is Date of Annual Varsity Reunion; Koch is Chairman

November 9, the date when the khaki-clad Yanks of Wisconsin and Illinois will meet to test their gridiron prowess on the camping grounds of Wisconsin's civil war volunteers, has been set for the university's great Victory Homecoming. Although the decision for holding this annual event this year has been held up due to uncertainty as to just when the "flu" ban is to be lefted, Dr. C. A. Harper of the health board informed the athletic association that unless the epidemic increased noticeably public meetings will again be permitted some time next week.

Such action will permit civilians to attend the game, and as this will be Wisconsin's one big home game this season, it has been decided to keep alive the spirit of Homecomings and bring back all the grads for this occasion.

As all the students at the university are governed by the regulations affecting the S. A. T. C. the athletic department deemed it best to place some alumnus in charge, and appointed Ensign Harry J. Koch, '15, who is now stationed in Madison as cost inspector at the Four Lakes Ordnance company, as general chairman. Two assistant general chairman will be named shortly, one woman and another man.

George T. Bresnahan, '14, manager of athletics will represent the athletic department on all homecoming activities.

The cooperation of the officers in charge of the S. A. T. C. and the vocational men will be solicited for a military procession on Saturday morning, and for drill tactics during the halves.

Lavish decorations will be tabooed, although it is expected that local merchants will decorate their show windows as in the past with such materials as they may have saved from former years.

A mass meeting will be held Friday night; a parade Saturday morning, and an all-university dance Saturday night.

ST. PAUL—The influenza-pneumonia situation in Minnesota showed slight improvement today, the state board of health announced. Forty-three towns reported 104 new influenca cases and 68 cases of pneumonia. They recorded 36 deaths.

American women are right behind the U. S. troops in the trenches. Women nurses are now installed in hospitals 3 miles in the rear of the actual fighting line.

Many of our American women are unable to take up the duties of nursing at the front, but they should know how to take care of their own at home, and for this purpose no better book was ever printed than the Medical Adviser—a book containing 1,008 pages, and bound in cloth, with chapters on First Aid, Bandaging and care of Fractures, Taking care of the Sick, Physiology, Hygiene, Sex Problems, Mother and Babe, which can be had at most drug stores, or send 50 cents to the publishers, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

The women at home, who are worn out, who suffer from pain at regular or irregular intervals, who are nervous or dizzy at times, should take that reliable temperance, herbal tonic which a doctor in active practice prescribed many years ago. Now sold by druggists, in tablet and liquid, as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Sick people are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free of charge. All correspondence is held as strictly private and confidential.

GOLD PRODUCERS TO ASK FOR RELIEF

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Gold producers, representing 85 per cent of "the only declared essential industry that has not received consideration at the hands of the Government," decided at a conference to ask for relief corresponding to the increased cost of production, Eugene Davis, chairman of the finance committee of the American gold conference and the international gold conference today.

Under war conditions gold is being mined at a loss, said Mr. Davis, adding that a large percentage of the normal pre-war production is in danger of being irretrievably lost.

NEW RECRUITS FOR S. A. T. C. TO ENTER NOV. 9

University to Limit Enlistments at This Time to High School Graduates

The war department has just authorized all colleges which have units of the collegiate students' army training corps to open their corps to new recruits at the middle of the current quarter, about Nov. 9. To aid them in recruiting their corps to full strength the war department has authorized them to set aside the requirement of high school graduation and to admit men who, because of partly completed high school work, business or vocational experience, or personal qualifications would be considered officer material.

The S. A. T. C. unit at the University of Wisconsin, however, is so large that the university, with the sanction of the war department, has decided not to admit new students for the second term of the quarter, beginning Nov. 9, unless they are high school graduates. The university can accommodate these up to the number of 200.

It is likely that the university's S. A. T. C. will be opened to new recruits in larger numbers in the near future, to replace men transferred into officers' training camps and other army branches. When such vacancies exist, announcement will be made throughout the state. Whether the requirement of high school graduation will be maintained at that time will depend upon the needs of the army and the number of high school graduates available for the special training.

Attack on Germany From East is Predicted by Barnes

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON—An allied attack on Germany from the east was foreshadowed by George Nicoll Barnes, member of the British war cabinet, in a speech last evening at the American officers' club in London.

"The armistice with Turkey might have been signed earlier," said Mr. Barnes, "but we held the Turks on a string." He explained that the allies were committed to a free Arab state with Aleppo as the capital and there was no hurry to get the Turks out of the war until Aleppo was captured. Other places as necessary to the Arabs as Aleppo also must be surrendered, he said.

The British have been assembling ships at the mouth of the Dardanelles for some time and Mr. Barnes said he understood the vessels already had started through the straits.

He concluded:

"There now is nothing to prevent the fleet from going into the Black sea and up the Danube river to Germany's back door, and if the Germans are going to defend their territory they must divide their remaining forces between the western front and the back door, at which we shall soon be knocking."

REPORT OF BARGAIN IN TURKEY CURRENT

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Stirred by dispatches from London that a report was current there that the allies were prepared to make a "bargain" with Turkey by which she would be left in possession of Armenia in return for a free passage of the Dardanelles, Arshag Mahdesian, secretary of the American committee for Armenia independence, today sent a telegram to Pres. Wilson urging him to protest against such a compromise with the Turkish government.

THE BALLOT AND THE BULLET

THE ballot is as important as the bullet in the war between autocracy and democracy.

The battle between autocracy and democracy is not going to end with the drying of the ink on the coming peace terms. While this has been a war which has lined the forces of democracy on one side and those of autocracy on the other, yet the old struggle will be continued.

It will be continued within Germany. It will be fought out within France and England and Italy. The struggle will be carried on here in the United States.

With the return of peace the ballot will supplant the bullet as the weapon which will be used in this struggle between those who place property rights above human rights and those who see in government the instrument to exploit the many to the advantage of the few.

It is a peculiar situation to contemplate but we have in this country at the present time men who are heralded as the champions of democracy who will be serving autocracy with all their old-time enthusiasm with the conclusion of peace. We are told, for instance, that Knute Nelson, Henry Cabot Lodge, Reed, Smoot and even the obnoxious Boies Penrose have 100 per cent records on loyalty in this war between democracy and autocracy. Does anyone doubt where these gentlemen will line up in the continuation of the battle between autocracy and democracy after peace is declared? Will they be with the people or will they be with the railroads, the packers and the special interests that prey upon the people?

This is something that the voters of the third congressional district should consider. Where, judging from his past record, will Jim Monahan line up in the after-the-war battle between democracy and autocracy? Will his oral professions for democracy be submerged in the real service he will render in the old fields of wealth and privilege and autocracy?

Need we have the same fear in Ernest N. Warner? Isn't his past record a guarantee that his service to democracy will be more than vocal? Mr. Warner will not be serving autocracy if sent to congress.

We will know where to find Ernest N. Warner in the struggle that will come after the war. That is why the local element that has served wealth and privilege is against Mr. Warner, that is why they misrepresent and malign him.

We want democracy after this war and the way to get it is for people to use the ballot and elect men of Ernest N. Warner's type.

HOW DO YOU EXPLAIN IT?

POLITICIANS and newspapers over the state attack the loyalty of Gov. Philipp's war record.

Badger Fire of 1871 Prompts Many To Aid Gopher Refugees

Pioneers Recall Disaster in Door and Oconto; 1,200 Were Burned; Property Loss Was $5,000,000; All Nations Send Wisconsin Aid; Belgians Were Heavy Sufferers.

By FRED L. HOLMES

WHILE Wisconsin is in the midst of a campaign to raise $50,000 to care for the 7,000 fire refugees in Superior from Minnesota, pioneers recall the sacrifices of forty-seven years ago when the fire devastated large sections of Oconto, Brown, Door and Kewaunee counties. In that Wisconsin fire the loss of life was estimated at 1,200, which is greater than that suffered in the Minnesota conflagration. The property loss was about $5,000,000.

Wisconsin was then in its pioneer stage. The counties of Door and Kewaunee had only recently been settled by people from Belgium and the suffering of this community attracted world attention. Contributions came from all the states in the union, Canada, Great Britain, France and Germany. But the report at the executive office shows that Belgium did not forget her children and one of the largest contributions came from the people of that country. Little wonder that all over Wisconsin are people who remember the aid of Belgium in that day of Wisconsin's trial and are willing to help raped Belgium today.

Big Fire in 1871.

Horrifying as is the fire in Minnesota, it is doubtful it is compared in awfulness with the Wisconsin fire of Oct. 9, 1871. In the memory of that fire comes the reports here that the counties which suffered such havoc in 1871 are leading in the contributions being collected at the call of Gov. Philipp for the Minnesota sufferers.

The Wisconsin fire had been preceded by a season of unprecedented drought; the very air was crisp, the earth under foot needed but a spark to ignite it. Streams that had usually been swollen in the spring and large throughout the year had dried up, or were mere brooks. An occasional fire broke out, but because of the diligence of the people was prevented from spreading. Crops had been good. The grain had been gathered and much of the hay was in stacks. In those days there were no barns large enough in the pioneer communities to house all of the hay needed.

"Then came the never-to-be-forgotten fire of Oct. 8 and 9, 1871," says the vivid account of Xavier Martin of Green Bay, who was one of the committee of citizens appointed to aid in relieving the suffering. "So appalling was it, so entailed with loss of life and property, that the whole civilized world was moved with compassion for its victims. For eighteen months, clothing, bedding, provisions, farming implements, and money came from all quarters of the globe for the relief not only of the Belgians, but of all the sufferers of that terrible holocaust in the counties of Brown, Kewaunee, Door, and Oconto, the pecuniary loss of which aggregated over five millions of dollars, while its death list footed up over a thousand men, women and children.

Drought Was Unusual.

"In the year 1871 but little snow and rain had fallen, and there had been an unusual drought. Forest fires had raged in many localities in August and September; the heat was oppressive, and the smoke so dense that vision in broad daylight was seriously obscured; on the waters of Green Bay, in full day-time, mariners were compelled to resort to the compass to find their way into port; flakes of black and white ashes and cinders fell in the streets of the city of Green Bay; and the roar and crackle of the flames could be heard from a long distance.

"Fire had for some days been raging in the woods on both sides of the bay, and coming nearer and nearer. The people were in great alarm; scores of city people would go out, days together, to assist the settlers in fighting the destroyer, but apparently with little or no effect. Finally, on the afternoon of October 8, the atmosphere became unbearable; clouds of smoke and tongues of flame seemed to spring up everywhere; the whole heavens were ablaze, the atmosphere itself seemed to be on fire, many people believed the end of the world had come, for none had ever before heard or read of such a conflagration. It was an awesome sight, as belching smoke and flames rolled along in masses, carrying desolation in their way. Houses, barns and outbuildings of every description were destroyed in a few minutes; glass, china, and hardware were melted, so intense was the heat. Many families lost half of their numbers. In terror, some ran one way and some another; one man from the Red River settlement jumped into a well with his two children, and they were all saved, while his wife and three children ran into the clearing and all four perished. Wild and domesticated animals would make common cause in seeking shelter; many such were found along burned fences, huddled together, and roasted to cinders.

Belgians Were Sufferers.

The greatest loss of life among the Belgians was at Williamson's mill, near the Brussels settlement. A little way from the mill, which was utterly destroyed, there was a clearing caught fire; there surrounded by a blazing forest, they threw themselves on the ground, trying to evade the flames and the smoke; but all of them, sixty-eight in number, were suffocated by the terrible heat and smoke. Three of the mill-hands did not run there, but threw themselves into a large tank of water under the mill, with the idea that thereby they would escape; but only one of them survived, the other two were so badly burned that one died the next day, and the other a few days later. The survivor said he saw one girl, named Desautel, run from the mill, and when a little way off stand as if petrified; she remained motionless, and her body was soon wrapped in flames and burned to a coal. On the other side of the bay the loss of life was appalling. The village of Peshtigo, with its mills, its hotels, its churches and schoolhouses, its halls and dwellings, was wiped from the face of the earth in one night together with over seven hundred of its inhabitants."

Peshtigo Wiped Out.

Of the stories of disasters in Wisconsin, that of the fire horrors at Peshtigo seem to be inbred in the people of Wisconsin.

Young people of Wisconsin today who know little of the destruction wrought by this fire in other counties will relate how their parents told of the Peshtigo fire of 1871. At Peshtigo, hundreds were saved by throwing themselves into the river. One of the men who lived in Peshtigo at the time the roar of the tempest was deafening; the atmosphere scorching; children separated from their parents and were trampled under foot by crazed beasts; men and women rushed in wild dismay—they knew not where. The sound of the whirlwind was so great that many believing the day of judgment was at hand, abandoned themselves to its terrors. Of the village of Peshtigo there was not a vestige left, except one unfinished house. Kewaunee, Ahnapee and Sturgeon Bay were sorely pressed but were saved.

When the atmosphere cleared over the burned area, 5,000 were homeless and destitute. Farm buildings, homes, schools, churches, all had been swept away and winter was at hand. Never was greater generosity shown than among the Wisconsin people, food and clothing was rushed to the scene. Physicians came to heal the sick. Out of the ashes within five years, new homes and farmsteads marked the scene.

Large tracts of timber land had been burned over, leaving nothing but charred logs and timber easily removed, so that thousands of good tillable acres were added to the farming tracts already under cultivation. Nearly all the marketable timber having been burned or destroyed, it followed that the lumber and shingle-mills which had been destroyed by the fire were not rebuilt, and this alone was a great loss to the people.

Many Other Fires.

There was nothing left for them to do but to turn their attention strictly to farming, which they did; from that time on, farming, stock and wool-raising, butter and cheese-making were the main occupations of the settlers.

Among other destructive fires in Wisconsin are the following:

Oshkosh, April 28, 1875; Marshfield, June 27, 1887; Iron River, July 27, 1892; Milwaukee, Oct. 30, 1901; Fifield, July 27, 1893; Phillips, July 27, 1894; Sept. 27, 1898 parts of Barron and Polk counties swept with flame with a $500,000 loss; May 1-8, 1900, fire raged at Chequamegon bay and Menominee river, the damage reaching over $1,000,000; April 22, 1903, La Crosse suffered a fire loss of $750,000; fall of 1908 fires broke out over a wide area in northern Wisconsin and Rhinelander was saved by aid from the Milwaukee fire department. The loss for the year in forest fires was over $5,000,000.

SOME OF OUR AMERICAN BOYS HELD AS PRISONERS BY GERMANS

Group of American prisoners in Germany.

This photo, one of the first to be received in this country from a German prison camp, was received recently by the wife of Capt. J. B. Cousart, who lives in Philadelphia. All but one of the officers shown in the photo live in that city. Captain Cousart did not identify the men in the picture, but his wife furnished the names of most of them. From right to left they are: Third man standing is Lieutenant Brown, 109th infantry. Fifth man is Captain Cousart. At the extreme left is Lieutenant Sloan. Bottom row, right to left: Third man is Lieutenant Quinn of the 109th; fourth, Lieut. Walter I. Swartz of Scranton, Pa.; fifth Lieutenant Hitzcroth, also of the 109th.

DINNER STORIES

Shortly after the reconstruction period began an old southern planter met one of his negroes whom he had not seen since the latter's liberation.

"Well, well!" said the planter; "what are you doing now, Uncle Josh?"

"I'se a-preachin' ob de gospel."

"What! You preaching?"

"Yassah, marster, I'se a preachin'."

Well, well! Do you use notes?"

"Nossuh. At de fust I used notes, but now I demands de cash."

"What's your idea of a good husband?" asked the court of a man charged with cruel and inhuman treatment.

"Myself," was the answer.

"Yourself—and your wife complaining you gave her a black eye two days ago?" continued the judge.

"Yes, but what about the $10 I gave her at the same time? Eh, what about that?" came the reply.

"My wife is an expert at juggling knives and forks," stated a husband to the court.

"What would you call an expert?" interrogated the judge.

"Well she threw a knife at me the other morning and here's where it hit me," reiterated the man, pointing to a lacerated forehead. "I wouldn't call that the throw of an amateur."

The school girl was sitting with her feet stretched far out into the aisle and was busily engaged chewing gum, when the teacher espied her.

"Mary!" called the teacher sharply.

"Yes ma'am?" questioned the pupil.

"Take that gum out of your mouth and put your feet in!"

I'm surprised that you welcome me so warmly," said the seedy visitor.

"Why?" asked the editor.

"I must admit that I have a poem to show you."

"I inferred as much, and that's why I welcomed you warmly. It might have been a plan to run the war."

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

GOOD-BY

Good-by, O pumpkin pie.
With thee I have communed
For lo, these many years.
And now, in bitter tears
With voice to grief attuned,
I say bood-by.

Since youth I have drawn nigh,
Thy brown and luscious self,
My inmost soul has yearned,
But, far as I'm concerned
You're now upon the shelf.
For good and aye.

You used to be a jit.
Say, I don't run a bank.
At twenty cents a hunk,
Which I think is the bunk,
You're far above my rank.
So, beat it—flit.

When other food got high,
I banked a lot on you.
Somehow I had no fear
That you'd turn profiteer.
I thought you'd see me through.
Good-by, false pie.

HOOVERIZING THE LANGUAGE

(From the Dear Old London Chronicle.)

"Nevertheless" as one word is an excellent example of war economy in space and its appearance in our daily paper should be welcomed by all who deplore unnecessary expenditure. While we have such forms as "nevertheless" and "notwithstanding," regard for consistency justifies its use. "Allthemore" should follow suit and perhaps we may also hope to see "inthecircumstances," "bytheby," "underthecondition" and why not "whatthedeuce"? Thus will more room be found in the paper to supply mental sabulum for the voracious reader.

Certain things happen to make us believe that the much-touted man power is more or less of a myth, after all. The other day a Brooklyn man had his wife summoned because she had twice thrown him downstairs, struck him with a garden rake, broken a $12 vase over his head and locked him out at night.

HUNGARY'S DEFECTION HASTENS KARL'S EMPIRE TO ITS END

An idea of Emperor Karl's problems may be gained from this population map of the "dual empire"—dual no longer since Hungary's defection. Hungary proper, with a "corridor to the sea," probably will have a separate government from now on. Large sections of what is now Hungary will later be annexed to Roumania and Jugo-Slavia

CONSTITUTION HAS NO PLACE FOR CROWN

Austrian National Assembly Adopts Republic Form of Government

ViVienna printed in the Tageblatt of Berlin says:

"The national assembly met at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. A vast crowd had assembled before the diet and frantically cheered the red flag which was displayed by laborers from the suburbs of Vienna.

"Socialist members of the diet were cheered when they addressed the crowd in favor of a republic.

'Mayor Weisskirchner tried vainly to get a hearing but he was greeted with hisses.

"Meanwhile the national assembly had accepted a constitution in which no place was left for the crown. The national assembly has the executive power while the state council and the state government share the executive power. It is planned to name a new government Wednesday night."

DANE COUNTY SENDS 24 INTO WAR SERVICE

People at Home Urged to Back up These Workers by Aiding United Drive

"What will you do to match the record of the 23 men and one woman who have gone from Dane county to the camps of this country and France to take "a bit of home' to the men in service?"

That is the question that the campaigners for the United War Work drive will be asking you in about two weeks.

F. O. Leiser, secretary for the Y. M. C. A. in Madison, has just completed the list of Y. M. C. A., K. of C., War Camp Community service, and American Library association workers sent from this county.

Frank West, formerly University Y. M. C. A. man, was one of the first to go. Although once gassed, he is still in the thick of things in France. W. A. Hastings, known to Dane county people as a prominent business man, has put on a "Y" uniform for overseas service. Volney Barnes gave up the principalship of the Madison high school, Harold S. Stafford left his insurance business, Cassino Stanowicz withdrew from an important post at the University, and the Rev. S. E. Lathrop resigned a Dane county pastorate, all to become workers at the sign of the Red Triangle "over there."

Donald in France.

John S. Donald, Mt. Horeb, left his farm to see service abroad with the 2,500 men, who have gone from Dane county. Morgan Griffiths, who was the leader of the American Volunteers army in Madison, volunteered for foreign service with the American army. Prof. Arthur Beatty, a member of the English department of the University, is already in service abroad, and D. H. Otis, assistant dean of the College of Agriculture, is soon to go.

The University has contributed another of its faculty men to the Army Y. M. C. A. work in France in E. B. Chamberlain, who is leading camp singing. Milford Witts, also of the University staff, is one of the men who will sing with the boys at "Y" huts all over France.

The K. of C. have not lagged in their work, for two men have been sent by that organization, Charles Coyne and George Ledwith, Madison business men known to many county farmers. The K. of C. work corresponds to that done in the Y. M. C. A. huts.

Serve in U. S. Camps.

In addition to the 14 men who are serving the boys in France, Dane county has sent "Y" workers to camps all over the United States. On the Mexican border is the Rev. Henry Harris, formerly one of Dane county's pastors. At Camp Custer, Frank Ambler, who left the International Harvester company, has charge of a hut. At the Great Lakes Naval station is Walter O. Joachim. T. E. Ferguson and the Rev. Karl von Krug, pastor of one of the Presbyterian churches, are also working in camps on this side.

M. P. Mitchell, manual training director for the Madison continuation school, and H. J. Veerhusen, Hokansen Buick company, leave Sunday for overseas motor work with the Y. M. C. A.

One Woman in Service.

Miss Alice Webb, the one woman the county has given to the work of the "Y," is stationed at an army Y. M. C. A. canteen in an eastern city.

To the task of collecting, buying, and making ready for use the millions of books and papers which the boys find waiting for them in the huts which the "Y" and similar organizations provide, Dane county has given M. S. Dudgeon, who is field representative, or the middle west of the American Library association, one of the seven organizations included in the United War Work drive. W. E. Hicks is doing war work for the same association.

Probably no other county in the state has as good a record for this service as Dane county. It is for the people left at home to keep the pace set by Dane county men working for the welfare of the men in service.

Y. W. C. A. Parlors probably Will be Furnished by Husband of Movie Actress

Louise Vale parlors at the new Y. W. C. A. building may be a gift from Travers Vale, New York, the millionaire husband of the movie actress who died here of pneumonia last week after volunteering her services as waitress at the Y. W. C. A. during the shortage of help. Mrs. R. S. Lawrence, mother of Mrs. Vale, who lives at the Mills Y. W. C. A. home, Monona avenue, has said that Mr. Vale would probably furnish the parlors to be dedicated to the memory of his wife.

A bound volume of scenes showing Mrs. Vale in various movie plays is expected to be sent by Mr. Vale, to be donated to the Y. W. C. A. library.

The body of Mrs. Vale was taken to New York for burial. Funeral services were held here at the Williams' funeral parlors Wednesday afternoon. The Rev. James Craik Morris officiated. Mrs. Lawrence was unable to accompany the body as she also is ill with influenza. Mr. Williams went as far as Chicago with the body.

Chicago paid honor to the wife of Travers Vale, president of the government board of censors for all war pictures shown in this country, by giving the body the right of way through the city, and putting it on the 19 hour limited train for New York.

Did Prophecy Of Hindu Come True?

MILWAUKEE—Two months ago Ben. J. Piazza, an actor well known on the legitimate stage and in vaudeville, and now chief yeoman at Great Lakes Naval Training station, told of a prophecy he heard when in southern California several months before—that the war would end in October, 1918.

The story, reprinted here, appeared in The Milwaukee Sentinel, Sunday, Sept. 9.

"Three weeks ago," said Ben. J. Piazzi, an actor, who stopped over in Milwaukee on his way from the Pacific coast, "a couple of well known San Francisco citizens were motoring from that city to Los Angeles. After they had passed San Luis Obispo they came upon an aged Hindu plodding along the road in the direction they were going. They stopped their machine and asked him if he cared to ride.

"The Hindu told them that persons of his religion never accepted service for nothing, and as he had no money to pay for it, he must refuse.

"The old man, however, interested the autoists so much that they insisted he ride with them and he finally agreed to do so.

"Arriving in the neighborhood of Santa Barbara, he told them that was as far as he was going and they stopped the car to let him alight. He thanked them profusely for the ride and said:

"'While I can not pay you for your kindness with money, I will answer truthfully any question you put to me.'

"'When will the war end?' one of the men asked.

"'In October, 1918,' replied the Hindu promptly. 'I do not know the exact date, but it will surely end in October.'

"'Quit kidding us,' said the motorist, who asked the question, 'the war won't end for a year at least.'

"'It will end in October, I tell you,' the Hindu replied rather indignantly. 'I am as sure it will end in October as I am that you will never reach Los Angeles.'

"'Now we know you're crazy,' said the motorist and with a 'so long' to the Asiatic they started on the last lap of their journey.

"Before they had gone ten miles, something happened to the engine, and the man who had questioned the Hindu got out to fix it and—

"Toppled over dead."

G. O. P. PROGRAM IS EXPLOITED BY BOURNE

Former Oregon Senator Issues Statement on Republican Policies

WASHINGTON — "Problems that loom large on the horizon of our national life are problems of reconstruction. In spite of procrastination, inefficiency, and wastefulness manifested in every stage of our preparation for and participation in the war, the war is about to be won. Following that victory the United States will enter upon a period of peace handicapped in many ways by the commercial rivalry that must surely come," declared Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., president of the republican publicity association, and former U. S. Senator from Oregon, in a statement today.

He says as follows:

"We are a creditor nation and the debtor nations desire to pay us with goods rather than gold—manufactured goods at that. We have established and must maintain the highest standard of living known in any nation. We pay the highest wages, observe the shortest hours, place most restrictions upon child labor, insist upon the most sanitary conditions in factories and shops, and are determined that our workers shall continue to be the best fed, the best clothed and the best housed of any workers on the face of the globe. With other nations offering us goods produced by cheaper labor, we are threatened with repetition of the conditions that wrought havoc to American industry in 1893 and 1913-14. If left in a position to control the economic policies of the nation after the return of peace, the democratic party will bring on once more the industrial ruin and commercial disaster which are yet so fresh in the memories of our people.

"The republican party has ever been the party of constructiveness. We have before us the task of determining what shall be done with our costly merchant marine, our railroads, telegraph and telephone lines, our returned soldiers. We must restore government by law in the place of that government by men which has been set up during the past six years. We must put an end to sectionalism, extravagance wastefulness and inefficiency.

"In the accomplishment of this the first step is obviously the ousting from power of that party which delayed preparedness and bungled it after it was begun—the party that fosters socialism and had never been sound on economic problems—the party that must continue to be sectional when the needs of the nation demand a broad, constructive nationalism. Vote the straight Republican ticket."

J. Butler Wright of New York has been selected as counselor of the American embassy in London. MAYOR SAYLE ASKS LIBERAL SUPPORT OF UNITED WAR DRIVE

A PROCLAMATION.

"The necessity which came to the United States of taking up arms against a foe which threatens the liberty of the people of the world and the very life of civilization itself, has demanded that many of the best young manhood and womanhood of this community must go to the training camps and overseas and separate themselves from their accustomed business affairs and helpful home influences. This, perforce, creates among them a mental and spiritual hunger for the ties of church, family and society and of kindred associations so deep in the feelings of every American citizen.

"To supply this void in the lives of our own soldiers and sailors and the noble women workers engaged in war work overseas and at home, the United States government has authorized these seven organizations to look after their welfare:

Young Men's Christian Association.
Young Women's Christian association.
National Catholic War council, Knights of Columbus.
Jewish Welfare board.
War Camp Community service.
American Library association.
Salvation army.

"These organizations have accepted and discharged the trust reposed in them in a manner that has commanded the admiration of the world and the eternal gratitude of every man and woman in the service of the flag.

"Therefore, I, George Sayle, mayor of Madison, by authority vested in me, do hereby proclaim the week beginning Sunday, Nov. 10, United War Work campaign week and respectfully urge upon and beseech all the citizens of Madison that they bestow attention, lend effort and strength and give liberally to the fullest extent of their means in response to the appeal for funds that shall be made in the United War Work campaign."

(signed) GEORGE C. SAYLE.
Mayor.

KINNEY HIGHLY COMPLIMENTED BY SHIPMATES

Widow of Madison Sailor Who Died of Pneumonia Receives Letter

"Your husband was rated as a 'regular fellow' by all his shipmates, which is the highest compliment one sailor can pay another.'" This is the consoling message received by Mrs. J. W. Kinney from a shipmate of her husband who Oct. 4 died of pneumonia following influenza at the hospital ship Solace.

How he died like a hero, expecting to the end to soon be better and how even after he was taken sick he refused to leave his post, are told in the letter from the shipmate, Henry Busher.

Kinney was the son of Mrs. Mary Kinney, 1034 East Johnson street, the widow of the late Policeman Kinney. His wife was formerly Miss Margaret Schaub.

Shipmate Writes Letter.

The shipmate writes in part as follows:

"I am only able to give you a very little amount of information about your husband's death as I don't know anything whatever about his condition after he was transferred from the New Jersey to the Hospital Ship Solace. How ever I do know that his condition was such that the news of his death which came to us only a day or two after his having transferred, was in no sense a surprise.

"Mr. Kinney was admitted to the sick Bay here, sometime about, possibly a week before I wrote you. His diagnosis was influenza but pneumonia set in in a very short time and he gradually became worse until he was transferred.

"The night on which I wrote you, he asked me to do so as he stated that you had failed to get a money order that he mailed you some time previous to that date. He was too ill to do any writing himself but stated that he was anxious about this and asked me to attend to it for him. He was as unconscious at the time, I believe, as I was that he wouldn't pull through. He merely asked me to write that he'd let you hear from him in a couple of days, thinking that he would be much better in that length of time, but to the contrary, in about twelve hours the ship doctor pronounced his case serious and he was only conscious at very short intervals until transferred.

"I didn't know Kinney until he was admitted to the sick Bay here, but the fellows in his division all state that he was one of the most decent, likable chaps that they've ever known. In fact, one of them told me that after Kinney was taken sick that he refused to come to the sick Bay until he had stood his four hour Gun Watch as he knew that some of his shipmates would have to stand an extra watch if he went to bed first.

His shipmates (the men of his division in the Armed Guard) say that he was a 'regular fellow' which is the highest compliment one sailor can pay another.

"Mrs. Kinney, I am indeed sorry that your husband had to go, as I am when any of the noble fellows of the service are called, and especially those of our own ship, The New Jersey. You have this consolation, though, you know that he died an honorable death and that in allowing your husband to join the colors you and he both helped to foster that cause for which we are all ready to die for if needs be.

Joins Dangerous Branch.

"Kinney was in the Armed Guard division. They are trained on this ship and after training and qualifying are transferred to one of the navy yards for Merchant Marine and Transport service. This is as yet, one of the most dangerous branches of the naval service. In entering this branch every man is apprised of its hazards and is given every chance to stay out if he so desires. I mention this so that you may know that Kinney was a hero, even though he didn't live long enough to see any real action. I think the fact that he entered the most dangerous branches of the service would be sufficient evidence of that fact.

"In extending a whole heart full of genuine sympathy to you in your sorrow, I am expressing the sentiment of the whole crew of the ship who knew him. It's the heroes like Kinney that inspire us to see this job through, and we'll do our best, but with the knowledge that a braver man than we are has given up his life when he was eager to do his bit."

PROF. BARRY CERF IS NOW CAPTAIN

Prof. Barry Cerf of the French department, now holds a captain's commission in the Chemical Welfare division of the army, and is on active service in France. He received his commission early last August.

His duties are not connected with the technical side of gas warfare. He instructs the men in the use of the gas musk, a division of work in which he has had special training. He also acts as interpreter.

Prof. Cerf has been with the French department for about ten years. He was one of the most enthusiastic members of the faculty drill company which was organized at the university last spring.

"Real comfortable at all times."

Hot Water and no Frozen Pipes

First Floor Plan of Mr. Rolf's Residence.

Heated All Winter with Five Tons of Coal

In Minnesota, where the cold is severe and steady, the Caloric has made thousands of friends. There's good reason for it, too. Take the story of Johan Rolf, who lives at St. James. Mr. Rolf has had only one winter's experience—but we all know what a winter it was! He says:

"We installed one of the No. 148 Caloric Pipeless Furnaces in our home in November, 1917. Our house consists of eight rooms, one room being on the third floor.

"We have burned only five tons of coal during the last winter and have been real comfortable at all times. None of our water pipes were frozen during the winter. Our house, including the bathroom, has been at all times

As Warm as Toast

"The Caloric combination system of heating and ventilating makes it one of the most healthful and economical appliances in use. As the air passes through the hot radiator many times every twenty-four hours, it is being sterilized constantly.

"We are greatly pleased with the Caloric Furnace and its work, and recommend it highly to anyone wishing real comfort in the home."

Mr. Rolf's experience is equalled by over fifty thousand other Caloric users allover this big country. Each of them was sold his furnace on a guarantee of satisfaction. They have been well pleased, and they have saved fuel.

Think of heating an eight room house in Minnesota all winter through with five tons of coal!

Your home, too, may have the same comfort at the same low cost. Let the Caloric solve your heating problem.

ILLINOIS.

URBANA—Bob Zuppke's Illini youngsters will depart tonight for Iowa city, ready for a grim uphill struggle against the Hawkeyes. Coach Jones' team is conceded to be stronger on paper, but the young Illini figure they have a good fighting chance.

Zuppke directed a good practice today and will have another tomorrow when he will select his squad. There will be few, if any, changes in the line, but the complexion of the back field is still in doubt. Kirkpatrick, Lanum, Kopp, Ralph Fletcher and Walquist are likely to get a chance, and so will Sabo if his charley horse permits.

OHIO STATE.

COLUMBUS—With the close of the Columbus quarantine in sight within a short time, the Buckeye football squad is being speeded up by Coach Wilce in preparation for the November contest with western conference elevens.

Ohio State cannot go to Evanston Saturday for a game with Northwestern as was hoped by the athletic heads. Instead, arrangements have been made with Oberlin that should the ban be suddenly lifted before Saturday a game will be played on Ohio field. Next week a game with Case is scheduled and then come the Big Ten teams.

INDIANA.

BLOOMINGTON—Because of their faithfulness in coming out for practice each day, Coach Stiehm announced after the Indiana workout Thursday that he would take 25 men to the Camp Taylor game at Indianapolis Saturday instead of 20. He announced the Indiana lineup as follows:

NOTRE DAME.

NOTRE DAME—Final practice was held Thursday before the Notre Dame eleven leaves for Lincoln. Coach Rockne drilled his ends separately, then put the whole team through a fast and thorough signal practice, then through a scrimmage, in which the freshmen were all the time on the offensive, and finally through a series of 50 yard dashes.

Eddie Dunne, Connors, and Colgan cannot play Nebraska. They were lost to the team by orders received today, to hold themselves ready for transfer to an officers' reserve training camp.

IOWA.

IOWA CITY.—Scott, star right half back, returned to Iowa field Thursday afternoon, strengthening the team still more. Coach Jones sent the men through a long signal drill and short scrimmage. The team will enter the Illinois game in its strongest form of the season. Belding will be used Saturday especially for a kicking game.

there are so many Austrian prisoners that they block the roads over which they are being marched to the rear.

The Venetian plain immediately east of the Piave is a scene of desolation. Houses and villages have been ruined by shell fire.

When the advancing Italians reached Sacile they were received as saviors and the women and children of the town fell on their knees before them. During a recent influenza epidemic in the town the Austrians are said to have brutally rejected appeals from mothers for food for their sick children.

King Victor Immanuel has been traveling incessantly from place to place giving orders for succor for the exhausted population.

Every bridge in the path of the advancing allies has been the scene of fighting. One railroad bridge near Conegliano was lost and retaken 30 times.

In the storming of Monte Cismon an Austrian battery of six guns which had been shelling the city of Bassano was captured. The morning before it was taken 30 persons were killed in Bassano.

On the northern part of the Venetion plains the Italian armies are advancing northeast of Sacile toward Aviano on the way to Udine which was Italian headquarters before the retreat of 1917.

The tenth army operating from Oderzo to Motta Di Livenza, is carrying out a flanking movement with the intention of cutting off the Austrian fifth army. The Austrians are trying to cross the Livenza, but are being assailed on three sides. On the north is the tenth army, in front of them is the Duke of Aosta's third army and from the Adriatic marines bombard the enemy with cannon mounted on pontoons.

It is believed that there will be large captures of cannon in the mountain zone as it is thought the Austrians will not be able to withdraw them quickly enough.

BULLETIN

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Sixty thousand Italians held by the enemy to work on defenses in occupies territory already have been released. with the Austrians everywhere in flight and the Italian armies on two wings about to unite, it is said to be impossible to foresee where the few enemy divisions that escape will stop running.

CRIMINAL ACTION IN AIR PROGRAM

has contracts for 12,000 Liberty motors and separate parts. Mr. Hughes estimates its profit would be $15,000,000 on these contracts.

The Lincoln Motor company will make a profit of about $11,250,000 on contracts for 9,000 motors and spare parts. Its entire paid in capital is $850,000.

Estimates Ford Earnings

Regarding the Ford company's contracts, the report says:

"The contract with the Ford Motor company was for 5,000 Liberty engines. The company did not begin its deliveries until the 14th of June. It was estimated by its officers that deliveries would reach 1,500 in October, and that the entire contract would be completed by the first of December. It is behind its schedule, but between Sept. 6 and Oct. 4 it delivered, according to the government's request, 765, and it may be expected that it will complete its contract for 5,000 by the end of January, 1919. Under the original contract it would then be entitled to fixed profits on the 5,000 engines of $3,125,000, and the additional percentage of the saving under the bogey cost of $5,000.

Total of $5,375,000

"With its well known efficiency, and in view of the fact that by beginning later it did not have as much difficulty as the Packard company had experienced, it may be assumed that the actual cost of the 5,000 engines at the plant of the Ford company will be less than $3,200 per engine and at the rate of $450 an engine (that is, 25 per cent of the difference between $3,200 and $5,000) its additional profits would amount to $2,250,000, or its aggregate profits on the 5,000 engines would be $5,375,000 earned by January, 1919. The plant investment required for this production certainly cannot be regarded as any greater than that on the part of the Packard company. The Ford company has not received advances from the government.

"Highly improper conduct," was charged by Mr. Hughes against Col. E. A. Deeds, formerly in charge of aircraft production, in his relations with Dayton manufacturing concerns which received large aircraft contracts with liberal profits.

Mr. Hughes pointed out that at the beginning of the war Mr. Deeds had large business interests at Dayton. His intimate business associates were Charles F. Kettering and H. E. Talbot, owners of practically all of the stock of the Dayton Wright Airplane company, of which Col. Deeds was himself one of the incorporators.

T. [illegible]icking in Stock.

The Dayton Wright company received contracts for the construction of 4,000 De Haviland 4 planes at a cost to the government of about $30,000,000. The company was guaranteed profits amounting to $2,500,000 and an additional profit under a sort of bonus arrangement of not less than $1,000,000. The capital stock of the company, $1,000,000, was not paid in until Dec. 1, 1917, when in one transaction the stock was paid for and all shares were transferred to the Dayton Metal Products company, which thus became and still remains the owner of the Dayton Wright Airplane company. The airplane company received nothing on the issue of its capital stock except the fixed property represented by its plants, and the government agreed to advance it $2,500,000 for working capital.

At this point Mr. Hughes' report says:

"The promoters of this enterprise, not content with these profits which were to accrue to them either directly or through their ownership of the Dayton Metal Products company, at once took advantage of the opportunity to increase their gains by salaries as executive officers of the Dayton Wright Airplane company.

War Babe Salaries.

Dating from Aug. 1, 1917, the salaries thus allowed were as follows: H. E. Talbott, Sr., $35,000; C. F. Kettering, $35,000, and H. E. Talbott, Jr., (30 years old, who was made president of the company), $30,000. Talbott, Sr., was at the time receiving and continued to receive $60,000 a year as president of the Dayton Metal Products company; Kettering received a salary of $25,000 from the Dayton Metal Products company and $50,000 from the Delco company, and Talbott, Jr., was also receiving a salary of $18,000 from the Dayton Metal Products company.

Discussing charges that, through the pooling of aircraft patent rights in the manufacturers5 aircraft association, leading contractors hindered progress of invention and restrained trade, Attorney General Gregory in his letter of transmittal said:

"Whatever may be said of the charge that this arrangement tends to discourage future inventions, one of its results was to enable the government, through contractors, to secure the use of all necessary patents at a fixed cost and with little friction. It was not entered into until the attorney general had given an opinion that it did not conflict with the anti-trust law. I find no basis for the suggestion that in bringing it about, the members of the aircraft board were actuated by any unlawful or dishonest motives."

Mr. Hughes said it would require a more exhaustive examination of the patent situation than he made to ascertain whether the patent rights contributed to by the Wright-Martin aircraft corporation and the Curtiss aeroplane and motor corporation justified the arrangement to pay $2,000,000 to these concerns.

Labor conditions, Mr. Hughes said, "Generally were unsatisfactory." He referred to the lack of stability of employes' forces, saying at the Packard plant, for instance, the labor turnover was between 400 and 600 percent a year, "which would mean 40,000 to 60,000 men coming and going in order to maintain an organization of 10,000 to 11,000. Criticism also was given the Wright-Martin company for seeking draft deferment for many of its employes at the New Brunswick, N. J., plant, who had few qualifications for the work in which they were classed as experts.

MADISON MEN TO ACT AS BIG BROTHERS

Soldiers Will be Entertained and Instructed by Business Men

A big brother movement is on foot at Camp Wisconsin and already business and professional men of Madison have organized to act in this capacity to the soldiers. The organization has held two meetings at which the work, which will consist of the big brothers coming into camps and having a personal relationship with the men, was discussed.

It has been decided that about two or three of the men will be assigned to each company. Besides inviting the soldiers into their homes for meals and introducing them to their friends, the big brothers will assist the company study classes which will be held every Sunday morning. In these classes a book called "The Soldiers' Spirit" will be used. It contains President Wilson's message to soldiers and handles material dealing with such subjects as "A Soldier's Time," "A Soldier's Money," "Relations of the Soldier to His Home," etc.

The "big brothers" have as yet not been definitely assigned to companies but this will be done in a short time. The following men will act: Howard D. Piper, W. N. Weir, J. E. Messerschmidt, S. C. Campbell, V. D. Deist, H. G. Leisler, J. G. Fuller, G. C. Humphrey, M. H. Hovey, C. W. Haswell, S. J. Fryette, J. N. Cadby, A. L. Goddard, E. N. Warner, W. M. Mackin, A. V. Millar, F. O. Leiser, Burt Williams, W. N. Gore, Prof. E. H. Gardner, A. L. Eaton, H. L. Potter and F. S. Brandenburg.

Other men are being considered for the organization but no definite assignments made. Activities for the soldiers will begin as soon as the ban is lifted. A supper is being planned at one of the churches where the new brothers can meet the "Y" councilmen and the 150 soldiers.

BAN MAY BE LIFTED MONDAY, IS BELIEF

City Health Officials Meet Today to Decide When to End Closing Order

The city board of health will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock to determine when the epidemic ban will be raised. It is the belief of city officials that the ban will not be raised until Monday.

Dr. H. E. Purcell was in conference with the state board of health officials Wednesday and it was determined at that time that the lid should be kept on a few more days.

According to reports which have reached the health office today, the epidemic situation is greatly improved.

Republic On The March Says Paper

(By the Associated Press)

COPENHAGEN—Under the heading "A Republic on the March," the Berlin Tageblatt of Wednesday gives details of the events of that day in Vienna.

The demonstrations began in the forenoon with a meeting of the students which was joined by the workingmen in front of the parliament building. President Dinghofer of the national council in a speech declared the national government would take over the whole administration on Thursday.

"But without the Hapsburgs," shouted the crowd.

An officer in uniform then called on the soldiers and officers to remove the imperial cockades. His appeal was obeyed with enthusiasm. The imperial standard flying before the parliament building was then hauled down upon the order of President Gross of the Austrian lower house.

BELGIANS PLOD HOME AFTER 4 YEARS OF EXILE

Men of Military Age Join Army; American Commissions Extend Relief

(By the Associated Press)

BELGIAN HEADQUARTERS IN FLANDERS (Sunday)—After four years of exile the residents of the now liberated sections of Belgium are returning to their homes. On all roads peasant carts and other vehicles loaded with household goods are moving north and east of the rear of the old battle line. The returning ones exhibit no exhiliration, merely plodding on behind their carts silently, apparently unwilling to rejoice before they had seen their villages and knew that their homes were intact.

Young men and middle aged men were on the roads but they were moving toward the south. Being of military age the men were going to join the Belgian army. They had succeeded in escaping deportation by hiding in cellars and elsewhere when the Germans departed.

The population does not appear to have suffered physically during the German occupation. The women and children appear to be healthy and many declared they had suffered no actual privation.

"But it was due to the American food commission," they added. "Had we been at the tender mercies of the Germans we should have starved."

The American Red Cross and the American food commission already are extending relief. The reconquered country is badly in need of food of all kinds.

MADISON FOLKS DONATE RECORDS

Soldiers Will Have High Class Music as Result of Drive

Not only will soldiers overseas and in training camps in this country have plenty of music but they will have goon music if other cities respond as generously as had Madison in the first two days of the drive which is being made for phonograph records.

The appeal for records which was made Thursday resulted in over 150 being delivered to the Forbes-Meagher company, 27 West Main street. The drive will end next Thursday and it is the desire of the committee in charge of collection to be able to send at least 1,000 records to the central headquarters.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO — Lively selling due to the collapse of Austria and to the surrender of Turkey led to a fresh break in corn prices today. The setback however, was not of a radical sort inasmuch as the majority of traders had expected such news from abroad and should have discounted the situation. Buying on the break was of only a scattered sort and no signs of decided power to rally appeared. Opening quotations which ranged from half to 1¾ cents lower with November 117⅝ to ½ and December 115¾ to 116¼ were followed by moderate further declines and then a slight recovery.

Oats gave way with corn but displayed better capability to react. Demand came chiefly from cash houses. After opening ¼ to ¾ cents off with December 57¼ to 58 the market ascended to above yesterday's finish.

Advances in the hog market lifted provisions. Besides it was announced that if necessary the railroad administration would assist in restricting excessive arrivals of hogs.

The big Gold squad scrimmaged Wednesday afternoon for two hours to round off the rough edges after their long inaction due to the influenza quarantine. At present there is practically no influenza on the campus and there will be nothing to hinder the trip to Madison Saturday.

ARCHERY TEAMS TO BE NAMED NOV. 6-7

Names Will be Chosen After Preliminary Tournament

The archery teams will be chosen from those who make the highest scores in the preliminary archery tournament to be held Nov. 6 and 7. Any girl may try out for a team whether she is taking archery as a sport or not. Each aspirant shoots twenty-four arrows, and the teams are determined by the four highest scores in each class.

"The freshman class does not have an archery team in the fall because the time is too short in which to work up beginners to a worth while team," said Miss Mary Brownell, archery instructor.

The final tournament which will determine the championship will be held the week after the teams are chosen, on Nov. 15 and 16. The class which receives the highest aggregate score will be the winner of the tournament.

Extra practice hours have been arranged so that those who wish to put in some extra time may do so before the preliminary tournament. On Monday and Wednesday the open hours are 8:30, 9:30, 10:30 and 4:30. On Tuesday and Thursday the ambitious ones may practice at 10:30, 12:30 and 4:30. On Friday 10:30, 12:30 and 4:30 are open.
